Last Sunday, our family visited the big city museum. My little sister, Mia, was very excited. Did she see dinosaurs? Not yet! First, we walked through a room with old cars. My dad explained how they worked. Mia didn't understand everything, but she thought they looked cool. Next, we found the dinosaur exhibit. Alex, my older brother, was so happy! He knew all the names of the dinosaurs. Was he reading every sign? Yes, he was! We saw huge skeletons that reached almost to the ceiling. They didn't move, of course, but they seemed very real. Mia asked Mom, "Mommy, were they really this big?" Mom smiled and said, "Yes, they were!" We spent a long time there. We didn't go to the art section because we ran out of time. Before we left, we bought a little dinosaur toy for Mia from the gift shop. We had a wonderful day learning new things.
